ATTENTION ALL HARES

IT IS YOUR DUTY TO GET GINGER BEER & ICE, REMEMBER THAT HARES MOST IMPORTANT PLEASE. "GET IT COZ IT'S YOUR JOB"

ALSO, IF YOU HAVE A RUN CUMMING UP, DON'T FORGET TO MAKE ARRANGEMENTS TO COLLECT THE TRAILER FROM THE PREVIOUS RUN SITE. IF SOMEONE ELSE IS TOWING THE TRAILER FOR YOU, IT WOULD BE A GOOD GESTURE TO THROW THEM A SIX PACK

. Sired by a dedicated hasher, there was great expectation that Son of Mulva would put on a challenging run. The first challenge was to fill up the waterbag and find the run site way down in the Deep South!

With most of the pack arriving early, the hare had a cunning plan to get everyone out on the trail; set an A to B run and don't tell any of the buggers where B is going to be! The plan worked to perfection and with the run starting promptly at 7.00pm every man and his dog (or two?) were soon following either the runners or walkers trail.

Along the edge of the expressway, we headed back in the direction of civilisation for more than a kilometre before hitting the first check. Here we were joined by Elf, Muck, Anyfink and The Fat Controller. Having arrived at the run site and finding the gate locked, this gang of four had little choice but to follow the hares directions to the first check.

With the extra help, the check was soon broken with trail taking us along Sheriffs Road to the second check near the old school. Despite Condom's local knowledge, we had some difficulty in breaking this check, enjoying two false trails before eventually finding trail beside the old school.

By this stage Anyfink was starting to believe that there might actually be some truth to the athletic exploits that are described in the weekly trash. As we enjoyed a long stretch of downhill running, we were pleasantly surprised to view the hare and a p*iss stop in the distance. Looking forward to enjoying a well-earned beer, we were disappointed to find that the hare was in fact dispensing water.

Despite the disappointment, most of us were prepared to accept that this must be a local Lonsdale custom. Anyfink, however, spat the chewy, refusing to run another stride until she had been treated to a proper p*iss stop. While the disappointed pack continued on the downhill run, the hare had little choice but to ferry Anyfink back to B where she could partake of a well earned beer.

With trail taking us along South Road, we were soon down in Morphet Vale before heading west towards the parklands near Christies Downs Reserve. By this time darkness was descending and a cunning check at the edge of the ravine saw the pack checking in all directions. At this stage Moped decided to check across the ravine. In between confirming that there were no Olive trees on the run, he did in fact manage to find trail. Unfortunately, the wind was so strong that the calls couldn't be heard across the ravine and the rest of us had to make our own ways across before hearing the calls from far in the distance.

From the top of the ravine we were soon making our way along O'Sullivan's Beach Road with absolutely no fu*cking idea how far it would be to point B, wherever that may turn out to be. After a few hundred metres the trail turned left and after another fifty metres surprisingly turned left into what at first appeared to be a factory. The presence of hash cars, however, confirmed that this was not just a factory, but was in fact a Brew your own Brewery, and much to our relief was the much-anticipated point B.
