Veni, Vidi, Vici

"What the?" I hear you ask.

Scenario 1

What do we think of a Hashman who while on his way to our AGM, received a Call Out from his work but said stuff it and so "HE CAME" to tonight's run - Hashman of the year award nomination.

When setting off out on the run "HE SAW" that as there was only a mediocre sized pack running tonight, that he, along with his 10,000 watt lamp, would take it upon himself to guide the others home by once again leading the pack home - Competitive Pr*ick of the year nomination.

But, unlike all the other runners,walkers, Pub visitors and trailer minders tonight, who gathered around the fire bucket after the run to celebrate the safe return of all Hashers on the completion of yet another run that she or "HE CONQUERED" tonight, by having a drink, failed to do so - P*oofter of the year.

With shirt soaked and beads of sweat running from his forehead (definitely not rain) this same Hashman was up and off (without a drink) before anyone could say - supercalifragilisticexpialidocious (if you didn't grow up with Mary Poppins, forget it) He did mention something about having to go to work, but I still think - p*oofter of the year award nomination due to the fact of Veni, Vidi but no Vici to complete the night.

Which award takes your fancy Gravel Rash, nominations may still be open

Scenario 2 and perhaps the more preferred

Well tonight was to be a special night at the Men's AH3, as this was the night of their AGM and with that, the out with the old and in with the new.

As every out going Committee member arrived for tonight's run bearing a smile stretching from ear to ear, it seemed as though they had either just scored a $100,000,000 advertising contract with Colgate or they were out to make a Cheshire Cat feel ashamed .

Knowing full well that they have all done an exceptionally outstanding job with their organising of Men's AH3 in 2009/10, they felt honoured, and some what a little saddened at having to hand over their much treasured positions albeit to a new and inferior regime

They leave with heads held high and full of pride, knowing, that as a group, they "CAME" together 12 months ago, entrusted with the task of making Hashing with Men's AH3 an even better place to be.

In "SEEING" that what they had set out to achieve completed successfully, they know that what they have "CONQUERED" over this short period of time will be damn hard to surpass.

"A job well done" I hear you all say as well as "here here" and 3 cheers for the outgoing committee "Hip Hip Hooray"

Stop it now because you are starting to make me blush

The AGM Run

With a very chilly night quickly approaching us, the Hares for tonight didn't bother to beat around the bush to much, so it was "runners on this way" led by ELF and "walkers follow Pete the Pom"

Heading up Baldock Rd and left into Stuart Ave, it wasn't long before the pack soon found themselves cutting across the gully on Nelson Rd before crossing Milne Rd via Finnis Ave, Marrett Dr and Short St.

From here, a torch was a very handy tool to have on this part of the run as we headed down through the tunnel like gully off Sleep Rd all the way through to Mawson Rd. Winding our way through the back streets of Para Hills, thoughts came flooding back of previous runs that we have done in this area where we have had a drink stop just around the corner in the car park of the Para Hills Community and Sporting Club.

With the knowledge that this was our AGM Run, one would think that this would have been the perfect scenario and the #1 priority for the Hares tonight to set a short run with a drinks break before heading home and setting themselves up for a possible Run of the year nomination. Yeah right. No drink stop had been organised at the regular spot despite it being awarded Best Venue 2007, 2008, & 2009. This left a very parched and disgruntled pack to continue on with tails between their legs. What, was it because it hadn't won Best Venue 2010 and therefore not good enough for us?

To add salt to the wounds, trail continued to take the pack further away from home as we cut across the Soccer fields and in the direction of Maxwell Rd. For anyone who has not run through this area before it soon became evident that some of the pack were becoming very nervy because in getting to Maxwell Rd, trail took us through The Paddocks, an area reputed to be frequented by violators of the #1 Rule in Hash

Getting through unscathed the pack was soon on their way but wait, where's Nifty. After a brief halt and hoping that Nifty would soon appear ELF thought that enough was enough. Hanging around here for too long is not the ideal situation that he would like to find himself in and so decided to head for home knowing that an experienced Hasher like Nifty would find his way home.

Making their way along Maxwell Rd before heading over and along the proposed bus way the, sound of the generator could soon be heard by the pack as they made their way across the Baseball Ground to the waiting Trailer - and Nifty

Hash Note

Should any Hashers require the need to have any wood removed from their premises, their neighbours or even someone you don't know premises, please do not hesitate to contact either, Cirlicolot, Genitalia, Roocha or Too Dogs.

Excellent rates, especially from building sites, so long as it fits in the AH3 Men's fire bucket

Available hours are Monday Nights anytime between 7pm-8pm

For removal of scrap metal or $150 steel trusses contact Lucky Ewe

Same hours apply but not when he is in the Jensen

One December day we found an old straggly cat at our door. She was a sorry sight -- starving, dirty, smelled terrible, skinny and hair all matted down.

We felt sorry for her so we put her in a carrier and took her to the vet. We didn't know what to call her so we named her "P*ussycat." The vet decided to keep her for a day or so. He said he would let us know when we could come and get her. My husband (the complainer) said, "OK, but don't forget to wash her. She stinks." He reminded the vet that it was his WIFE (me) who wanted the dirty cat, not him.

My husband and my vet don't see eye to eye. The vet calls my husband "El Cheap-O," and my husband calls the vet "El Charge-O." They love to hate each other and constantly "snipe" at one another, with my husband getting in the last word on this particular occasion.

The next day my husband had an appointment with his doctor, who is located in the same building and next door to the vet. The MD's waiting room was full of people waiting to see the doctor. A side door opened and the vet leaned in. Obviously he had seen my husband arrive.

He looked straight at my husband and in a loud voice said, "Your wife's p*ussy doesn't stink any more. We washed and shaved it and now she smells like a rose. Oh, and by the way, I think she's pregnant. God only knows who the father is!"

Then he closed the door.

Now THAT, my friends, is getting even!
